Hello everyone this is Bernard Sfez your Tiki specialist. In this Tiki Express Tutorial we will see together how we can add images on a wiki page and we will use the File Gallery for that. If you want to know more about Tiki, how to get it, how I can help you with your Tiki or what is Open Source. Check the description down below you will find links. Let's go ! So here I am on my new page, I'm logged already as admin or any user that can edit a page. I click on the edit button at the bottom of the page. I place my cursor where I want to insert my picture. I go to the little icon "Choose or upload file". It reveals the upload file dialog that link to the Tiki File Gallery where all the files are stored. I made a video about that so you can check in the description down below you will find the link. I choose an image. I upload it. I insert it, and it is done it is done in the form of a thumbnail by default. There we are, I see a thumbnail on my page. If I want to remove the thumbnail setting, a very easiest way is to remove the parameter of the plugin image and then I have a full screen image. There are other way to edit a plugin and we will see that in other videos that we have published so don't hesitate to check it out
